

November Newsletter

I'm not sure how it got to be November already but since Halloween is over I am certain it is. Things in our room are moving right along. We have introduced the letters A,B, C, & D. We be taking a turn for a few weeks and concentrate on the numbers 1,2,3,4,&5 ,before going back to E (which should be in Dec.).

In between the formal readiness lessons, we will be learning about Thanksgiving and the Pilgrims and American Indians, and of course, why we are grateful. Also among the turkeys and feathers we will cover counting and number recognition.

During the week of November 7, Terry will be meeting with each of you for parent/teacher conferences. Please try to be prompt for the meeting. I ask that at least one parent come and represent the family. Any questions please let us know.

The Thanksgiving "festivities" will be on Wednesday, Nov.23.. A re-enactment of the First Thanksgiving will take place with feasting and singing. We have our regular day schedule and all the students are invited .We hope to make some of our own things like popcorn, muffins, and pies.

There will be sign-up 2 weeks prior for some extras.

Our class is asked to bring in stuffing mix for the Food Drive; containers will be in upstairs hallway.

Please feel free at Any time to send in a "special" snack with your child, they always enjoy it and the get a "thanks" from the class as well.

Keep in mind with the cold weather coming that we go outside each day (unless it's raining) so the children should be prepared with warm apparel and hats and gloves when necessary. It is also a good time to send in warmer spare clothes in case of need to change.

The attached Scholastic orders are due by Nov.12.Thanks to everyone who has ordered online.

Please mark your calendars for December 8. This Evening is our Gingerbread house Night.....More details to follow.
